Breakout Discussion Privacy and Cybersecurity in a Pandemic

1:00 p.m.

How is the COVID-19 pandemic changing privacy and cybersecurity? Are existing legal rules being relaxed in a sensible fashion? What are the trends in areas such as workplace monitoring and telemedicine? Are new laws needed? How are organizations adapting to a new way of working and the new demands of a post-COVID world?

2:00 p.m. Coffee Networking - hosted by Loeb&Loeb LLP

Breakout Discussion The Emerging US Privacy Law Landscape

2:30 p.m.

The CCPA is now active, and a new ballot initiative has been approved for November. Beyond California, other states are also considering privacy legislation in multiple areas. Biometric litigation has emerged as a particularly significant area of litigation. There are also numerous federal bills about privacy, and the demand for a federal comprehensive privacy law has never been stronger. How will the election affect the prospects of a federal privacy law?
